It is the first Chinese tank prototype to feature rubber suspension, and is intended for border protection. The Chinese military tested it in the summer of 2009. The Type 97 is an indigenous design, much like the Type 055 Destroyer and Type 055C Destroyer Improved. It has no direct rival, as on the one hand the Chinese are not close to the Russian-made T-90/T-95 or the Germany-made Leopard 2 like the previous Chinese MBTs have, but on the other hand unlike the MBT of China, it lacks any significant Western equipment, so it is not only a domestic made MBT in service; often being referred to as the first Chinese tank. Until recently, there have been several unofficial rumors of new Chinese tanks in development with one of them, the "Type 95", being a new copy of the American M1A1 Abrams or the updated Type 055 which is similar to the Type 055C, being nicknamed the "Type 95C", but according to Chinese government officials, neither of the rumors is true. GAME SAVED I have

Armored Warfare is a free-to-play online first-person shooter based on the Commander's Troop simulation. The game mixes fast-paced action with a wide variety of strategic and tactical elements and is set in a world at the crossroads of three nations. The first nations to band together to win the game were the Americans and the British. Now, after years of fierce competition, the Chinese are rising up the ladder. U-NAM and its allies from Russia and France have joined the fray and are using the front line of the Eastern Front as a springboard to become regional powers. War in the Pacific is raging between the United States and Japan, fueled by both countries' rapid industrialization and arsenals of deadly new weapons. Enter the Armored Warfare universe, where war has become one giant battlefield, and battle it out with your allies and enemies to become a true legend in the armored warfare universe. The Type 96B MBT is a Chinese Tier 8 Premium Main Battle Tank with a 90mm K5 gun and an 8-Au flotation and recovery system. This medium tank's gameplay is very dynamic and is tailored for players who prefer mobility over armor protection, since it excels in agility and speed and also provides an easy to use gameplay. The gameplay of this tank can be described as agile and versatile, and it requires a skilled player in order to fight effectively. While its mobility allows it to quickly avoid enemy fire, it also has a large profile which makes it more susceptible to attacks. This tank has a high maximum speed of 55 km/h and a combat range of about 18 km. It has an 8 degree of view range and a reload time of 14 seconds. This MBT comes equipped with a 90mm K5 gun and a Type 64A fire control system and is propelled by a Type 9-10G engine. It has the capability of firing guided munitions and provides protection against HEAT. The armor of the Type 96B is pretty thin, which leaves it vulnerable to a high number of hits. It has a poor vehicle armor rating of 250/50/50 and a frontal hull armor of 50/80/90. Type 96B Tank Weaponry: Type 96B Tank Engine: The Type 96B MBT features an 8-Au flotation and recovery system, allowing the crew to float it by activating the system, which is protected by hull armor. Its engine allows it to accelerate to a maximum speed of 55 km/h, which can be increased to 60 km/h by using the special equipment. Fuel tank: This MBT is equipped with a Type 9-10G engine, which allows it to provide a maximum power of 27,000 hp. Its fuel tank can hold 1,000 L of fuel, which can be used to propel it at an average speed of 40 km/h. Main gun: The Type 96B MBT features a 90mm K5 gun, allowing it to deal around 1,000 damage per minute with AP ammunition. What's new:

Machine Gun Street Fighter IV - All-round Use Yu-Gi-Oh! Duel Links - Mash Up Armed Assault on R'lyeh Up until now, the RAX's AFV section has only contained medium guns and, while they are absolutely useful in a wide variety of roles for special forces' and even pop-up pressure vehicles, I've decided to include the type 96B machine gun as well. The weight and shorter barrel length make this a premium recovery gun that often prefers to stay behind the front line due to the lack of space for more powerful weapons. However, there are many occasions where the model's rate of fire and damage output is just what it takes to clear off a distant flank defender or a bunker and the aiming system just can't keep up. The Type 96 was developed and made for another war and, regardless of that other war's outcome, the future of warfare has undoubtedly been set in concrete. Nowadays modern tanks are as rare as they are impressive, this can be due to the fact that functional tanks are only needed so much by... functional tanks or it could be that there is no real need to develop new ones, considering how well-flown, well-armored and well-armed troops and first-order vehicles already are. Regardless of why, the older designs are collecting dust in large vehicle museums with the masses, true landmarks which tell about the history of war and advance planning processes. The type 96B however, survived and became one of few familiar firearms from the war and even today can be found pretty regularly in museums, urban legends and, of course, the games. The high accuracy and low damage potential of this machine gun is more than enough for the support role at most times as the model has good medium gun stats and respectable damage per minute. The main issue, for me, is whether you can pin the shell into the ground somewhere on its way up as it only needs a small amount of disturbance to let you direct fire or if, as is the case with the regular type 96, the shell leaves the gun as soon as it fires a round. A random change in aiming direction as I fire or an unannounced shell hit can often result in some very uneven shot placement which leaves room for complaints after many rounds. As a result, I'm going to ask you to try to maximize this machine gun's use and provide feedback as to what
