There are 4 different worlds (releasing soon a new one) on of which is the beautiful planet X096 in Outer Space. Those who are affected by cosmic rays or have a radiation sickness, will see the right side of the character not being colorized, while on the left side there is color. The rest of the body of the character is being colorized. In this game, the history of the game is included as well. After 14 years, the player is going to be able to dive into the complete history. Making a simple view of a shipwreck, which leads to a war with the alien race, who first attacked Germany on November 11, 1938 on the German ships in the Atlantic sea, but their attack was defeated by the Royal Navy of Great Britain. During the Space Age, the Nazis did it a second time, even more severe, when they had already planned to attack the Soviet Union (The First World War) and the United Kingdom (The Second World War). However, at that time in time, the Soviet secret service and military service detected these tactics and tried to prevent the attack. The Soviets succeeded in preventing the invasion, but the Nazis showed it again in 1943 in the skies of Murmansk, Leningrad (“the white death”) and Greece (“the little and happy Greece”).The invasion of these two worlds has been prevented by the American Armed Forces at the last second, but the Nazis are nothing to laugh at, as they could also be some secret agents of the US. The Nazis are now hiding and surviving among several worlds and the player knows it through the Space Race (counter-espionage, attempts to destroy Germany, and of course, racial purity of the Nazis and the Americans). Please note: the game is firstly developed for PC and not for consoles, therefore will not be supported by development, maintenance and marketing. play-by-play take on the Mayweather vs. Cotto fight Another one bites the dust. The long reign of Mexican powerhouse Julio Cesar Chavez Jr. is over after Floyd Mayweather defenestrated his puncher's chance at becoming middleweight champion Wednesday evening in front of a raucous MGM Grand Garden Arena crowd. At the time I wrote this, I was a little perplexed that the speedy, cute guy from Don Miguel Donaire wasn't very good. He had little left from his devastating war with Marco Antonio Barrera back in September 2009 and I was expecting even worse. The fact is you never know when a guy is going to die. And all it takes is one punch. And so it went. Cotto lost his heart and his health in this fight. He simply couldn't hurt the older, better conditioned Mayweather. So there you have it. I had planned to write a different column Wednesday night. And maybe I would have if I weren't in the middle of an exciting visit with my dad in Michigan. But anyway, I did make a few changes to my plans in the light of the new day. Actually, I woke up later than planned to watch the fight. Don Sirloin called me at 6 a.m. and asked me if I wanted to come out and share my thoughts on the fight with him and the other two co-hosts, my good friend Mike who's outside San Francisco, and fellow Toledo native, Jim Tomasulo. I loved the guys and these days I can't wait to wake up for any call. So I changed my alarm to 6 a.m. I was going to hit the snooze button (as opposed to, say, hitting the off button) but I woke up anyway to overhear TMDW, DDTT and JTsM go over the fight on SportsCenter. They were all marveling at Mayweather's ability to control the ring. They were marveling at Cotto's reaction to being nailed like a tennis player. They were marveling at Mayweather's ability to talk shit about the referee's call. And they also were amazed at their host JTs saying that Cotto was looking like his dad, with the blood running from his mouth and nose, and Thompson intoning that Cotto appeared to have crumpled when Mayweather landed the most powerful punches of the night, lefts on his chin. So, knowing
