FIFA is an award-winning video game franchise, published by Electronic Arts in North America and Europe by EA Canada. The series is widely known for its sports-themed gameplay and use of real-life leagues as well as player likeness. FIFA, FIFA Mobile and Ultimate Team also have a solid reputation for innovation in gameplay and visual presentation, often changing the way the industry approaches sports video games. We strive to keep these trademarks at the core of FIFA while continuing to innovate and pursue perfection as we build the best football game on the planet. Quick Start

Introducing the new version of FIFA FIFA Live-Service It's not enough to simply create the best football game on the planet; we want to help it evolve, too, and deliver constant improvements and updates - like FIFA Live-Service. That's why every year in March we take the latest and greatest version of FIFA and run beta tests on a new range of platforms and devices. Our largest test yet focused on the FIFA Seasons and Ultimate Team modes will be available on PlayStation 4 from mid-March. Every year more than 300,000 fans at launch for this beta test and we'll keep releasing exciting new features over the course of the season. Early access to these features will be made available on PlayStation 4 via the PlayStation Store - launch day is coming soon, but you can always try out the platform before you buy. PlayStation 4 will also be the home of FIFA Live-Service in terms of physical discs and access to seasons and events. Artistic Approach to Soccer We're committed to creating an authentic and immersive experience for football fans. FIFA has won more award accolades in recent years than any other title and there's no shortage of great gameplay, features and content on the surface. But it's our artistic approach to soccer that goes deep - everything from the post-match interview to the game mode UI. We've paid great attention to making player faces, stadiums and ball physics unique and authentic. But we're also open to your feedback on the creative direction of these things. So this is your chance to help us shape the future of FIFA. Players A 6v6 Match Day Experience Within the game, we've completely overhauled the AI to make players smarter, more flexible, better teammates and more unpredictable. We've also delivered bc9d6d6daa
