Elsevier's science and technology books contain targeted content to help you understand and apply research findings Year after year Science, Technology and Society 2020: Looking Ahead Vision of Outer Space looks at the future that scientists believe lies ahead of us, for example, according to the director of the Center for Outer Space et al. Langley NASA David Goldfarb, during the Orion mission as early as 2022 it will be possible to visit the moon. But the story doesn't end there. If we can send a human into deep space, why can't we send a robot?
