This software allows you to monitor the behavior of the rabbit for a long period of time. Hsaencam records every movement of the rabbit from a webcam in a sequence of frames. You can view the captured frames in a real-time playback and investigate the patterns of movement. Hsaencam offers a number of features, some of which are: [?] Real-time playback of recorded sequences: You can use a built-in or external VGA or S-video display as a video display for playback. [?] Alarm functions: With the alarm function, you can be informed of any abnormal movement, such as if the rabbit gets out of the cage. [?] Auto-tracking: Hsaencam records a sequence of frames and analyzes the patterns of movement automatically. You can view your recording data as a graph that shows the pattern of movement. [?] Time lapse: You can set the recording interval and check the recorded patterns. [?] Flashing light: You can turn on the flashing light to illuminate the cage from the side and keep the lights off when it's dark. [?] Memory: Hsaencam stores the state of the recorded sequences. For example, you can use it to record several sequences at once, make one of the sequences active, and play back a second sequence
