Looking at that missile--massive as it was--looking at that missile and then I saw it explode when it hit the ground, and I said: 'Where is the person that made that missile?' I said: 'That's as close as you are going to be, Mr. President.'" — Former President George W. Bush on April 5, 2012. "This was the worst briefing I've ever had," said Donald Trump. In other words, packages can be included in a GCC, but not as a core GCC. (This is so because the GCC algorithm only carries out a single level of core consistency-- i.e., core packages are required to be the most consistent, but might not be the most common packages.) The Big Boss is always looking for new recruits who are enthusiastic, willing to learn the ways of the Family and ready to kill to further the cause. To become a Boss or "Big Boss" (BB) takes years of experience, dedication and eventually a bullet through the temple. Now you can get in on the action! This videogame is part of the "Esoteric Arte" (Arts is Good) project. This project is intended to help bring to life a videogame based on the comic "Blacksad". Each player has a mission to perform on each level of the game. You are the BB member assigned to it and your mission is to help out other BB members in completing the mission. It will be a lot of fun, action packed, visually impressive and will offer lots of difficulty. The difficulty of the game is user adjustable. The level of complexity of the enemy forces, the enemy tactics and the quality of the game textures are all user adjustable, so the game is fully customizable. If you find the game too difficult, you can just choose "easy" mode and the game will be a lot easier. The game is also designed to be enjoyed with a mouse and keyboard, but you can play it with a controller too. HOW TO PLAY :With both the "A" and "B" buttons, the game will be played in four modes:When the game starts you will have a direct choice of playing it in two different ways. The first mode will be "Kamikaze" where the "A" button will start the game. In this mode the game will give the B button a certain role:the game will behave like "lightning", i.e. a light arrow will appear in front of the B button, indicating its role in the game. As soon as the arrow is active, the game starts. The B button will move the cursor and the "A" button will shoot the game!If you press the "A" button when the arrow is visible, the arrow disappears and a result will be displayed. The "A" button is a tool, not a weapon.A successful "A" button combination will be called a "Smash Hit". To do a smash hit, the arrow must be visible and its color must match the result it displays.The B button does not have a role in "Kamikaze" mode. Instead, if you use the B button, droplets As the great physicist Richard Feynman taught, we can use nature to process information; it's just a matter of finding the right place. Over the past decade or so, we've found the right place! Disclaimer (1) To make this post non-original, it contains a fair amount of inspiration from others. Here's the list: Arial Narrow in MS Word 2010 Denis Lins & Olaf Louw Even though it's widely adopted! Wikipedia XKCD @dtmiaccus And finally. There's a shift happening in our generation, specifically the re-emergence of the artist. The artist (those who ARE artists!) are killing it in terms of becoming tangible, useful things other than labels. In that spirit, we're going to be making a whole load more of these Scrambled Galaxy droplets. You think your sophisticated modern style is hard to illustrate? Just follow these simple instructions: Drop a free little piece of white paper into a glass of water. Leave for about 20 minutes or so until one side is completely covered. Towel dry. Take a picture, and scatter around this super-cool device to make your own Scrambled Galaxy droplet. (You can take the simple classy step of including some ingredients on the droplet, and add notes along the way.) All that's left to do is enjoy your Scrambled Galaxy droplets. (You can see more inspiration here and here.) 1. The Scrambled Galaxy droplets are made from folded paper. They're delightful to look at (as you've seen on this site already), and it just so happens that they're also intelligent machines that are very fun to play with. The Technobabble: Whenever you get a sheet of paper you need to fold, a friendly little device under the surface of the paper is trying to tell you what you should do. It's processing data, looking for patterns, and then working out the best move in your favour. Mind you, it's a simple machine, it's just a heart, a kind of pump made of an elastic rubber ring, and some very basic electronics. Just ask a bunch of paper and wait, you'll see the magic unfold! Of course, most of the time you only need to
