Privacy help: Reviews: Online support: The iPad's Pencil, Apple's external stylus, has been a wonderful tool for taking notes on the device itself. But, if you'd really like to have that little Crayon-like stylus seep into the real world, this ATIV Smart Keyboard will let you do just that. The ATIV Smart Keyboard, a new product from Microsoft designed specifically to fit the iPad, is a unique hardware combination. The tablet stands up within the keyboard enclosure, which serves as a protective cover for the tablet. The keyboard has no gap between the two, bringing the iPad and the stylus right up against your table. You can adjust the angle of the tablet within the enclosure. The external stylus goes right into the ATIV's system, and you can use it in the same way as you'd use the Pencil with the iPad. One big difference here, however, is that the keyboard's keys have different colors, and it connects via Bluetooth, so you can use it with any tablet that supports the Bluetooth pairing. No iPad will be left out The ATIV Smart Keyboard is designed to be used with the full iPad experience. You can add another screen for multitasking, and you can create more space for the iPad. To do this, you slide the keyboard out and place the iPad on top. You can enjoy the touch of a physical keyboard when necessary, and you can enjoy the benefits of the iPad's stylus when you need to. For instance, the Apple Pencil can be used to select and edit text and images. The tablet can also be used with single-handed controls. Top marks for usability There are some drawbacks to the ATIV Smart Keyboard. For starters, it's quite bulky and can be quite difficult to carry around. It's also quite expensive, costing $119.99, but you do get what you pay for, and the quality of the keyboard itself is very good. If you want to bring your iPad into the real world, the ATIV Smart Keyboard is a very good option. It's very easy to use, it's good looking, and
