The Color Picker is a software application which allows you to view the corresponding HEX and RGB values of any visible color on your screen. When you pick a color from your screen the colors and it's rgb and hex values are displayed in a color palette. What is good is that a magnifying glass icon is available to make it easier to pick the color you want. The feature of the magnifying glass icon was added in 2015 and it's pretty neat. Color picking is simple and you need to follow the 2 step process of clicking the eye icon on the right side of the palette bar and then the color you want to pick a color from. When picking color you are able to copy and paste text to other programs. The top right portion of the app shows the palettes of the different colors available which allows you to change the contrast of the font you are using. It shows the RGB and HEX values under the color palettes so you can quickly see if it would be a good color for use or not. The app worked well on my windows 10 computer. I selected the color I wanted and it worked as it should. The app is very easy to use and fast. The only thing I would change is have a timer for the command to continuously show the HEX and RGB numbers. It would be good if there was a small script that could prompt the user of any error or command to go back to the main menu when the user clicks the X button in the bottom left of the main window.
