Watch.com - The Movie (2009) (eng) An urban comedy-drama film directed by Tarsem Singh. It stars Armie Hammer, Winona Ryder, John Malkovich, Rosario Dawson, Jeffrey Dean Morgan, and Jean Reno. When Arthur (Hammer) discovers that a woman he loves is being killed by a maniac (Morgan), he orders his cop (Reno) to catch the killer. However, the killer was not the maniac, but an ordinary citizen with a very simple reason for killing his girlfriend: his new family life in Los Angeles does not fit him and he wants to go back to his hometown with his wife. When the cop reluctantly agrees, Arthur has a terrible realization: his friend had tricked him and he was thrown into the city under the mistaken assumption that he was the leader of a group of young criminals. Arthur tries to reach his friends at any cost, but learns that they have been locked up in an asylum. Arthur sneaks into the asylum, frees his friends and trains them to overthrow a corrupt system where the rich and powerful rule and even the police know who to blame for the problems of society. Arthur's group gathers supporters and the city is dragged into rebellion. Despite the romantic plot and a fine ensemble cast, the film had trouble finding an audience. It was hampered by a high cost, mediocre reviews, and Warner Bros.' new insistence on hard-to-handle liberties in movie theaters. The film opened at 550 theaters on March 18, 2009 and by May of the same year, the film had grossed $1.6 million from non-theatrical earnings, which included the Paramount Vantage theatrical release. Despite critical success in other countries, the film was not well received in the United States. The New York Times'''s A.O. Scott gave the film a lackluster review, and Variety's Todd McCarthy said, "The movie is shot through with style and too often goes for nothing more than

But I have some questions: (a) I do not understand what he mean by $M_2 \times R$, where M_2 is his initial M. (b) He takes the $\epsilon \rightarrow 0$ limit of the Einstein-Schrodinger equations which I understand. But he then puts the EDS equations in a space-time $M_2 \times R$ which is not the same as the full M_2 he used to solve the EDS equations in the first place. (c) It is clear to me that the $\epsilon \rightarrow 0$ limit of the semiclassical expansion looks like a classical limit for the EDS equations, because the classical limit of the quantum equations is the classical field equations. But the paper says that it is not the classical limit of the EDS equations. The problem is that I am confused about how he does the semiclassical expansion and how he gets his equations. edd6d56e20
