How does momentum work in singlet states? According to the question Is it possible for the total angular momentum vector to point parallel to the vector of total momentum?, this might not be true for singlet states. But for instance in: can the vector of the angular momentum of each electron points parallel to the momentum of the orbital P.S. $\vec{L} = \vec{r}_1 \times \vec{p}_1 + \vec{r}_2 \times \vec{p}_2$ A: Let's say the system of two electrons with angular momentum \vec{L} relative to the centre of mass and momentum \vec{P} is in a singlet state with total wave function $\Psi(x,y,z)$. The potential energy due to the interaction of the two electrons is

$$V = \frac{1}{2} \sum_i e_j^2 \frac{\vec{p}_i \cdot \vec{p}_j}{|\vec{r}_i - \vec{r}_j|} = \frac{1}{2} (p_1 + p_2)^2$$
 The corresponding classical Hamiltonian is $H = p_1^2 + p_2^2 + V$ so the total energy is $E_T = H + \frac{L^2}{2\mu}$ where $\mu = \frac{m_1 m_2}{m_1 + m_2}$ is the reduced mass. Now this Hamiltonian is a sum of two harmonic oscillator hamiltonians which behave very differently and act on angular momenta (which is an integer) rather than d0c515b9f4

The aim of this study was to evaluate whether a structured intervention at home, which was given in combination with an individualized rehabilitation program could improve the health status of the patients and increase their level of physical activity. Thirty-one patients with an EDSS of 2.5-6 (median 3) participated in this study. They were randomized to either a group with individualized physical exercise (n = 16) or to a control group (n = 15). The study showed a statistically significant improvement in the physical activity level in the intervention group at the end of the period of the intervention. The patients randomized to the individualized rehabilitation program were more satisfied with their physical activity level than the control group. The study revealed that an individualized rehabilitation program that was given
