that allows you to communicate with your Sport Classic's ECU to read and modify settings in a PC based. This will enable you to play with your voltages using DIP switches or manually via the buttons. The demo version of Proshop Dash is limited to just the first twelve hex codes that have been dumped. There's no way to manually change any of those codes after the program is installed and run. - ! I believe there is an option for changing those codes. It may not be in the Proshop Dash demo though. you can download the software for the dash from the google store and update your old version with the new software Need to do a work fob with a TCI SX.m3 the only thing it has on it is a few sets of beeps and vibrations and one set of light flashes. No codes, no codes went into it. The standard driver can find the transponder but I can't find a way to read the transceivers from the code. Can you please help? - TECH TOOLS
