VMware Tanzu Kubernetes Grid is an on-premises self-service Kubernetes-as-a-Service (KaaS) solution for containers. It is an enterprise-ready Kubernetes solution with a secure and scalable architecture and a powerful, performant distributed orchestration engine. With the VMware Tanzu Kubernetes Grid, users can deploy, manage, and configure Kubernetes clusters on vSphere VMs on premise and/or in any virtualized data center. vSphere Integrated Containers (VIC) is the only container platform that provides the complete set of enterprise-grade features of the vSphere solution – the most comprehensive container platform built on the industry-leading vSphere. As with all of our container platforms, the VIC platform is unified with vCenter and vSphere, making it easier for IT admins to manage both containers and virtual machines. The VIC platform also provides the power to ingest popular container formats such as Docker and rkt, and run containers across the full stack of VMware vSphere components to simplify container management. VMware Cloud Datacenter Management (vCDM) is now generally available. This is an exciting milestone for VMware, as vCDM is a key part of our strategy to move VMware vSphere functionality to the cloud, and on VMware vCloud Air and Virtual Cloud Enterprise. Moreover, our engineering team has been working on its release on a continuous basis, and the data center team has been working to ensure that the capabilities of vCDM are ready to be delivered to our customers. VMware Cloud Foundation Suite is an ideal foundation for your private cloud environments that allow you to provision and manage Windows, Linux, and Unix workloads in a secure, compliant and reliable datacenter environment.
