I haven't read it yet but it looks really good, I'm going to buy a copy and read it before the end of the month. A great novel about relationships and friendships is really important for me to read. I know how important they are for life so I want to have a great, intimate one with the right person, he/she is out there somewhere. Hello, I just found you on the blogosphere and I am really glad I did. I didn't know how to describe myself but I really like what you do. I also really love the videos you make, I watched the one you put out and it was really interesting and I liked it. If you don't mind I'd like to add you to my blogroll. You really made my day. :) The book sounds like it could be really good, I'm not sure if I want to pick it up though because it's young adult and I have a tendency to get really weirded out when it comes to that. I just might to though, it looks good. :) Follow Me! About Me The purpose of this blog is to give a platform for me to share my thoughts and art and for me to do so. I want to start a fire for me and others to contribute to and to improve our lives by accepting ourselves as we are and by accepting each other. I am a simple soul who loves life and I also love to share. As for the art I do, it is simple pencil sketches of the people I love and people I meet on my daily walks.1. Today, I will be talking about books that make a difference to me and which I would recommend everyone read. I also want to point you to some excellent re-read recommendations, which I think all readers will enjoy. Book I cannot write about the best books without recommending two: Obviously, The Sorrows of Young Werther by Goethe, which made me decide to be a writer, and which I read many years ago. It is one of my favourite books ever, but it is impossible to pick favourites, since they are all extraordinary. I often think that the reason I wrote my first book was because I wished to experience how I felt as the character did. I wrote my second book, though in a totally different style, because I wanted to write a book about childhood, with all the feelings I had lived, and about those who never had a chance to discover how it felt to be a child. My third book was about loss, of course; this was a 'genre' that had been invented in my childhood. And my fourth book dealt with what happened at the end of the Second World War, so it is rather relevant. In my books I have often written about some sensitive, difficult subjects like bullying, love and

Prior to this, I had only taken one other ride - a bicycle - in my life. (This is possibly the true reason I've never been a better participant in the Pride Ride): I don't think I was riding my bike fast enough to get any momentum and my legs were moving so slowly that they just didn't move fast enough to go anywhere. So getting on my scooter for the first time was something else entirely. I was mesmerized. The angular design of the e-scooter felt quite natural in my hands and my feet moved along independently of one another for the first time in my life. I felt like I was riding really fast. was promoted to a Grade 1 mountain pass which was built in 1826. The pass is a major link on the Laramide High Desert Trail and is the third highest of the Great Basin. Hot Springs at Shoshone Hot Springs and Estacada Hot Springs provide the water supplies for the town, and are fed by hot spring springs in the basement of the Keno Hotel. There are no other hot springs in the area; the Hot Creek Hot Springs are located upstream in what was formerly the Virgin River. The Elk and Beaver Spas near Rocking Horse Creek also feed Rocking Horse Creek, but are only fed by cold rain and snow melt. Community and municipal facilities All of Estacada is within the boundaries of the Lincoln County School District. Estacada High School, a public school located on the south side of town, is a co-ed school, serving grades 9-12. Estacada is the site of the North Lincoln County Fire District, with the fire station located at the Shoshone Hot Springs. Transportation Estacada is located at the intersection of Oregon Route 20 and Shoshone County Road 14-16, five miles
