The aim of this research is to estimate the effects of laws on child abuse and neglect. Three theoretical models predict the impact of criminal laws: deterrence, legal deterrence, and incapacitation. We conduct a secondary analysis of an extensive legal dataset compiled by the Gerstein Center at the University of Baltimore. Our analysis of this dataset reveals that a restriction in the number of convictions and a restriction in the capacity of defendants to serve multiple sentences are the key mechanisms through which criminal laws deter child abuse.Q: How does war affect passive training? I noticed that the passive on my shields and my armour is lower than it was before the last war (for some reason it is a max of 4 (structure) instead of 5). My faction has not done any training in the last war. How does war (of any kind) affect passive training? A: Passive training is independent of active training. Therefore, the passive training will not be affected by the "war" and I assume you are referring to the War Campaign, rather than the war itself. The screenshot below shows the 20 year old passive training you are talking about. The unit has a passive power of 20 and a passive training of 2. Note that even in this relatively old screenshot, the passive training is the same. K. R.
