This guide is the first in a series of Photoshop tutorials on different topics, and is intended to help beginners. In this tutorial, you will learn how to open a new Photoshop document, modify and save it with multiple files, and open a new document in Photoshop. This guide is a methodical step-by-step guide. The techniques shown in this tutorial will work for any version of Photoshop.

Steps

- 1 Open a New Photoshop Document The first thing you must do is create a new Photoshop document to work with. You can start a new Photoshop document by pressing the keyboard combination Ctrl+N. In the dialog box that appears, press OK.
- 2 Adjust Image Size Press F to enter the Image Size dialog box. Check the Fit to Container option and make sure that the Fill box is checked. This will resize the image to fit the dimensions of the container, which is a square area on the canvas where you will place the images. Press OK.
- 3 Pick a New Background and Add a Layer Mask Press T to enter the Layers palette. The Layers palette will show all of your currently open layers, with each individual layer selected. Each layer has a number to the left of the layer name, and you can toggle the visibility of each layer by pressing the eye icon to the left of the layer name. You can choose to view the layers in the order they were created or in reverse order (which is the default). Pick a new background by dragging a new layer beneath the layer on which you plan to work. You can have one or many layers beneath a background. If you wish to use a layer mask, make sure that you have checked the box for layer masking by pressing the eye icon to the left of the layer name.
- 4 Add the Navigation Panel You need to create a Navigation panel to the right of your image. To do so, click once to select the Open icon and drag it to the right until you have the desired position. You will create the first Navigation panel by dragging a New Layer icon over the background. The New Layer icon should be over the layer on which you plan to work. Create the second Navigation panel by dragging the Open icon to the right and creating a new layer above the background. Add an additional Navigation panel by dragging the Open icon over the layer on which

For example, to sort a list of files by name, you can quickly use the tools integrated into the application. One is the EditToolbar. While editing you can quickly access the Edit Toolbar by pressing the ALT key. The same way you can access the Top Toolbar by pressing the ALT key as well. The Zoom tool is available in the Tools > Zoom tools menu. You can also use the Border Select tool to highlight a section of an image without further ado. Another useful tool is the PaintBrush which is the standard Photoshop brush. You can use this tool to fill in a section of the layer without affecting the rest of the image. You can also delete a selection made with the Ellipse tool.

What's New In Adobe Photoshop CC 2018?

Q: Laravel 5.6 how to check if a field is null I'm trying to validate fields at the controller level and it works fine if the fields are not required The code: `$validator = Validator::make($request->all(), ['plan.' =>'required', 'user.' =>'required|alpha_dash|unique:users', 'amount.' =>'required|max:999'], []);` The code works fine but some times the user wants to add a new project and I would like to add a second requirement for the project field. So I add: `$validator = Validator::make($request->all(), ['plan.' =>'required', 'user.' =>'required|alpha_dash|unique:users', 'project.' =>'required'], []);` Now if I try to add the project field and it becomes null the program says that the project field is required... but I would like to keep a space between project and * if project is null Any suggestions? A: You can use logical or to combine multiple attributes as like below. `$validator = Validator::make($request->all(), ['plan.' =>'required', 'user.' => ['required', 'alpha_dash', 'unique:users'], 'amount.' =>'required|max:999', 'project.' =>'required|max:1' // gives error if project is null], []);` You can see the documentation here - A: I would suggest declaring the `project.*` attribute as optional, so that it is optional and only required if you provide a value: `$validator = Validator::`
