Get out of my way, or I'll make you jump over this chasm until the moon goes down. Long ago, when my father was young, he had three ships and twelve crewmen. Then I was not born yet, but, they say, all this was. But I'm still young and, as you can see, not very tall.

dynamically? I'm creating a layout for a vibration app, and I have a custom View that I want to be positioned to the bottom left corner. I want the View to move when the user moves the device. I created the layout as: But the problem I'm facing is that once the activity is launched the View is not positioned at the bottom left corner, instead it is positioned at the center. How do I position the View at the bottom left corner? A: You can add a child views to ConstraintLayout dynamically. ConstraintLayout has a great documentation for dynamic views. Note: ConstraintLayout come with static constraints API which are more suitable for boundaries based layouts. Create constraint layout like below c6a93da74d
