Hollywood FX is a .The invention relates to a process for drying a pre-expanded fabric or a pre-expanded fabric composite by passing a hot gas stream over the pre-expanded fabric. The drying of products having a pre-expanded structure is known. German Patent No. 44 36 521 and International Patent Application Publication No. WO 2001/052518 A1, for example, disclose a process and devices for drying fabrics. When drying pre-expanded materials, the fibers are subjected to a pressure pulse, which has a disruptive effect on the woven structure of the fabric. The pressure pulse is typically achieved by impinging the pre-expanded fabric with a jet of hot gas. When using such a process, there is the problem that it is difficult to dry only the fabric or fabric composite. Sometimes the top layers, which have a higher density than the rest of the fabric or fabric composite, are not dried, but some of the water vapor is retained in these layers.

This leads to greater deformation or wrinkling of the top layers of the pre-expanded fabric or pre-expanded fabric composite during mechanical handling, and this may reduce the air permeability of the pre-expanded fabric or pre-expanded fabric composite. Wrinkling may also lead to a defective appearance of the product. An object of the present invention is to provide
