Fast Duplicates Remover quickly removes all duplicate lines from a file (also known as line-by-line duplicate removal). Fast Duplicates Remover is a simple utility that lets you remove duplicate lines from a file. It's a frontend to the command-line version. Duplicates Mover was written to do one thing and does it extremely well: remove duplicates from a single file in a GUI. While other utilities can generate one-offs that let you analyze and split a set of files into individual duplicates, Mover is designed to take the action and make things happen quickly. It also makes sure that all the duplicates are removed while leaving the originals untouched. Why? Because while your might think you need to do that, you probably won't. Instead, you'll appreciate knowing that when you come back later and open the duplicate-free file that Mover created, it won't have changed. But more importantly, it can take you from one set of files to another in a matter of seconds. If you need to process thousands of files, this is likely to save you a lot of time when you return. What's New in this Release: Version 2.10.0 Changes: - Added Portable Mode for Windows 10/Windows 8.1/Windows 7 users. - Fixed a bug that prevented files being opened in the background if they were stored on a network drive. - Updaded the driver file for Windows 7. - Improved File Mover's progress indicator. - Improved the interface for fast operation. - Fixed several bugs. What's New In Fast Duplicates Remover?

Fast Duplicates Remover is a tool designed to remove duplicate lines from a text document. It works without extra modules or configuration, so you can use it right after download. Clean out Duplicates with Duplicate Cleaner 3.9.8 program. Duplicate Cleaner is a unique application, designed to find, and remove duplicates from your text files, TXT, TXL, RTF and others. Fast Duplicates Remover is capable of removing all duplicate lines from a text file. This is a feather-light application that doesn't require setup, and it contains only a couple of options. Delete duplicate lines from.txt docs As far as the interface is concerned, it opts for a standard window that displays all settings available. The process is quite simple:

select the text document you want to scan for duplicate lines, specify the name and directory of the new file for saving the changed document, and click a button to let Fast Duplicates Remover handle the rest. By default, the utility is set to replace the original input file instead of creating a new one. However, you might consider deselecting it, unless you're making a backup of the original file. How it actually works The tool carries out tasks quickly, depending on the size of the document. It has minimal impact on computer performance, shows a notification message at the end of the job, reveals the total words and removed duplicates, and automatically overwrites files with the same names. It keeps one occurrence of each line and gets rid of the rest. On the other hand, the developer doesn't mention that it automatically sorts the lines when creating the new document, in alphabetical order (in this order: blank space, numbers, letters). Moreover, it doesn't have an option for showing the lines removed, and it's not clear about which file types it supports. It worked smoothly with TXT docs and we tried it with other text-oriented file types too, but the text was scrambled post-processing. Conclusion Fast Duplicates Remover is a pretty old application that doesn't seem to be in development anymore. Although it's speedy and serves its purpose, its mode of operation is confusing when running it for the first time. AutoDoc is a smart document creator, scanner, and organizer.
