..the military potential of the work of spetsnaz has not been fully utilized and the methods of using its use are not universal. spetsnaz are now in a class of their own in the armed forces. the kremlin fully funds spetsnaz and they are always ready for action and are the first to enter a conflict zone. ..the state has never had a strategy to maximize the potential of this special unit. spetsnaz have no peacetime role. they are an instrument of political warfare. we must think about how to use them in peacetime and how to prepare them for a war situation, not the other way around. in peacetime they are not an instrument of warfare. they are a separate, special form of training. ..to the officer of spetsnaz it is not clear what he is supposed to do. he is supposed to fight, but in what kind of fight? in what situation? what is the purpose of his existence? is it to act against other spetsnaz? what if he is the one who has to be fought? what if he is the one whose head has to be taken off? these questions

are difficult to answer. it has not been thought through. in practice it is another matter. the spetsnaz officer does not have to worry about these questions. the spetsnaz officer just wants to fight and get his share of glory. ..spetsnaz officers are not the only ones. there are also officers who have no interest in the special operations. they are only interested in the support troops, the reconnaissance troops, and the artillery corps. they do not realize that the spetsnaz officer is the main reason why they have been created. he is the one who carries the main burden of the war. the other ones are there to support him. they are there to perform different types of work. at the same time they do not always understand what they are supposed to do. they do not have a clear picture of the structure of the war. they are just supporting his work. spetsnaz officers are the ones who are not supported by the army. they are the only ones who are taking the war personally and are taking the brunt of it. the army has no interest in them. the spetsnaz officer is the only one who is fully supported by the army. the army has an interest in him. they support the spetsnaz officer and his work. that is why he is a colonel. that is why he is an inspector. that is why he is such an important person. he is the one who has to fight. he has to make decisions.

Systema Spetsnaz - 10 Dvd Set Torrent

as the fighting intensified, the russian government decided to use the spetsnaz, in particular the 35th separate spetsnaz brigade (ossn: otdel ospetsnaznogo naznacheniya sotnaz). the brigade has since been split up, with the main body becoming the main force of the spetsnaz, the so-called "standard" spetsnaz. this unit is now called the 8th separate spetsnaz brigade. the remainder of the 35th brigade was placed under the command of the fsb. the fsb's spetsnaz are now known as the 37th spetsnaz brigade. they are believed to be the same group as the 27th independent special designation regiment (osn: otdel ospetsnaznogo razvedyvatelnogo punkta spetsialnogo naznacheniya). so a decade on, is the spetsnaz better? in some senses. spetsnaz units did well in the battles of grozny, kabul, and southern syria, where the skill, discipline, and leadership of spetsnaz forces were sorely needed. the spetsnaz also proved to be well-suited to handling the challenges of urban warfare, where they especially excelled against improvised explosive devices, and they were also responsible for significant numbers of successful operations, especially in afghanistan. in addition, many of the forces involved in the donbas and other recent operations probably have learned from the experiences of afghanistan and chechnya, and are more confident and well-prepared. nonetheless, many questions remain. how well can they operate in the mountains, or against islamist or other highly mobile forces? has spetsnaz doctrine changed to reflect the lessons of afghanistan, chechnya, and the donbas? if so, how? can they still be an effective fighting force? if not, how much of a threat are they likely to remain to nato forces? 5ec8ef588b
