Alina was diagnosed with Epilepsy at the age of 10 months. Despite her disability, she fought hard to never let it stop her from achieving everything she set her mind to. She began dancing at an early age and continued through College, as well as Cheer. In her career path, she taught dance and coached cheer to children for the City of Tampa. Only those close to her realized the severity of her Epilepsy because her seizures were generally in her sleep, and Alina never wanted it to dictate who she was. Alina used her journey with Epilepsy to attempt make a difference by spreading awareness. She helped others by speaking with children and their parents that were recently diagnosed with Epilepsy and undergoing surgeries, as well as working with her Doctors and hospitals on new tools and outreach. She also had a special place in her heart for children with disabilities and volunteered whenever she could to help out.
