The MOSFET has a 40V voltage drop, at 12V the solenoid is supposed to be fully on. I try to find the voltage at the gate, but the problem is that the MOSFET gets blocked for a while and then conduct again. I know this is a familiar problem with MOSFET's so I need help regarding; Shunt resistance Voltage at the gate (Smaller) parasitic capacitance Possible solution Here is the circuit: This is my current setup. I have a range of values for R3 (6ohm-1kohm). I have tried using two different MOSFET's. The solenoid turns on fine and the MOSFET's get triggered, the problem I have is that the MOSFET
