The present invention relates to a device for image data output, for example, a copying machine, printer, facsimile machine or a multi-function printer which is capable of performing at least two of the above functions, wherein multiple functions are concurrently performed. More particularly, the present invention relates to an image data output device which can be optionally attached to a copying machine, printer, facsimile machine or multi-function printer or alone, and which is capable of performing two-sided printing or duplex printing on both sides of a piece of paper, copying on both sides of a sheet of paper (hereinafter called two-sided/duplex copy or simply two-sided copy). The sheet of paper is then reversed, i.e. transported in the reverse direction, so that the other side of the sheet of paper is printed by the same printing mechanism as the first side. Examples of devices which can be attached to a conventional copying machine, printer or facsimile machine or which can be used independently or as a stand alone, include a two-sided printing device capable of making two-sided copies on both sides of a sheet of paper. This type of device requires an additional control circuit and control means to accommodate a printing mechanism which performs
